Claims 3,6 recites providing advertisements to users over a datanetwork and a limitation for the following:

"wherein the first data network telephone further comprises at least one speed dial key operable to initiate a second voice over data channel to a called party at a selected voice communications device when the speed dial key is assigned to the called party's user identifier"

The prior art of record teaches the limitation except in the context of the speed dial key.

Claim 44 recites downloading and displaying commercial messages and a limitation for the following:

"wherein the data communications channel uses an RTP protocol to transport the commercial message"

The prior art of record teaches the limitation except in the context of the RTP protocol.

Claims 54-57 recite providing advertisements to users over a data network and a limitation for the following:

"wherein the request and response messages are communicated by the network telephony connection server in accordance with a protocol selected from the group consisting of: the Session Initiating Protocol (SIP), the H.323 protocol, the MGCP protocol and the MEGACO protocol"

The prior art of record teaches the limitation except for the selection of a protocol from the group of protocols.

New search updates revealed no other prior art which teaches the limitations in the context of the claims. Therefore, Claims 3,6,44,54-57 are indicated allowable.
